550 COUPLES DANCE TO MUSIC OF DORSEY AT FIFTH I. F. C. BALL

Andrews Sisters Help Furnish Entertainment

Eleven hundred are dancing to the strains of Tommy Dorsey's orchestra at the Fifth Annual Interfraternity Council Dance here in the Imperial Ballroom of Boston's Hotel Statler this morning.

Music for the first half of the evening was under the direction of Harry Marshard and his orchestra while Tommy warmed up his band at the Friar's Ball in Boston Garden. Also featured on the evening's program have been the Andrews Sisters with selections at 10:15 and 1.

Trouble Arose

Trouble arose in I.F.C. plans this year when Dorsey was signed by the Garden after a contract had been sent to him by the dance committee and options had been sold with the understanding that Tommy would play.

Arrangements were quickly made for Harry Marshard, society favorite, to play for the first part of the evening from 10 to 1 and for Dorsey to continue from 1:30 to 4 in the morning.

Edythe Wright Featured

Featured with Dorsey's band as soloists are lovely Edythe Wright and Jack Leonard. Tommy is returning by popular request following his appearance at last year's Junior Prom. His is the only big name orchestra in the last two years to play at two major Technology dances.

Tommy Dorsey was acclaimed world's outstanding trombonist and bandleader in two polls conducted recently by leading music publications.

Plays Tonight

Tommy Dorsey, the sentimental gentleman of swing.

In the annual Metronome poll for the best musicians, he rode easily into a first place position as the world's best first trombone player. He was given the World Orchestra Achievement Award as the outstanding orchestra leader, capturing first place in a close race with his contemporaries.

The Andrews Sisters are appearing every Saturday night on a nation wide hook-up with Phil Baker and Eddie DeLange's orchestra. These pretty sisters are especially well-known for their recordings of "Hold Tight", "Rock-a-Bye Baby", and "London Bridge is Falling Down".

Going to Casa Manana

They are scheduled to open at Billy Rose's Casa Manana in New York in the near future. Their three appearances within the last six months at the Paramount Theatre, New York were all held over. Walter Winchell says, "The Andrews Sisters new Decca plate 'Hold Tight' is their best B.M.B.D.S."

Harry Marshard has long been a society favorite and has played in many of the nation's best hotels.

His engagements include the Ritz Roof, the Balinese Room of the Hotel Somerset, and the Towne Club, all in Boston; the Persian Room of the Hotel Plaza in New York; the Florentine Room of Detroit's Hotel Statler; and the Hotel William Penn in Pittsburgh. In addition to these engagements he has played at numerous society parties and was co-featured with Benny Goodman and Rudy Vallee at the Boston Garden Jitterbug Contest last January.

Harold R. Seykota, '39, chairman of the dance committee summed up the policy of this year's I.F.C. party immediately after Dorsey was originally signed saying, "For the past three years I have heard comments about the school parties being just one long made, Seykota said, "Now that we have signed not only the attraction that we originally promised the but have added one more and are considering more innovations, there is no doubt in my mind that this school party will be best in all-school history."

Committees for the dance include General Chairman, Harold R. Seykota, '39.

Music—Henry C. Anderson, '40, Seykota.

Sales—Peter M. Bernays, '39, chairman; G. William Beer, '39; Newell McCuen, '41; Dudley H. Campbell, James W. Barton, '39; Paul Schneider, '39; Lawrence Bernays, '40; Gordon E. Holbrook, '39.

New Humoro Magazine Beg

WooWoo, the first humor magazine to be established at the Institute, was officially recognized last night by the Institute Committee.

In presenting the new publication's constitution for approval, Richard M. Crossan, '40, said he did so as a result of the students' demands for a funny magazine, a type of publication which has been sadly lacking during past years.

R.O.T.C. Unit Mobilized As Leader Karl Compton Accepts Unlimited Power

Karl Compton Acts To Save Institute From Communists

Declaring that the student body was being corrupted by subversive activities, President Karl T. Compton last night proclaimed a state of emergency and accepted dictatorial powers over the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The leader's announcement came on the heels of rioting caused by the closing of the Building 7 doors to Communists were blamed for the rioting and immediate reprisals were ordered.

Purge Ordered

The first act of the new regime was to order a purge of all student activities. Among those taken into protective custody were William F. Gard, Dixon Speas, Stuart Paige, Charles V. F. DeMaily. These activities of the state have been concentrated in the Hangar Gym pending investigation.

Along with his proclamation of a state of emergency, Leader Compton loudly denounced the internal politics of neighboring Bolshevik states. He must rescue the oppressed peoples in Harvard, Radcliffe, Simmons and Katy Gibbs. Our mighty army will march into those countries to save the loyal populace from destruction at the hands of communist saboteurs," the Leader said.

R.O.T.C. Mobilized

Immediate mobilization of the entire R.O.T.C. has been ordered. Crack Guard regiments have already been sent to the Central Square from across Massachusetts Avenue. Headquarters were set up in Lever Building. General Irvine stated last night, "No soft soap—hm-m-mm-m given to h-mmmmm the enemy, hm-m-m."

Ed A. Barlett, '39, was named as Minister of Propaganda and Enlightenment, while Dean E. Lobdell was named as head secret police.

Leader Orders Conscription To Enlarge ROTC

Immediately after assuming his dictatorial powers last night, Leader Compton announced a conscription program to augment the dwindling ranks of the R.O.T.C.

Deploing the inactivity of the late regime in neglecting the military forces of the Institute, The Leader announced that following recuperation from IFC hangovers, all able bodied men, and members of the T.E.N. staff would be liable to conscription for the Armies of the Empire.

Gross New Chief

Using as a nucleus the present R.O.T.C. battalion, Leader Compton has appointed Jerome Gross, former president of the now defunct Technology Peace Federation, and long in the pay of the Party as undercover agent, as Chief of Staff, to organize the new army.

QUINT DEFEAT

H. McCarthy Sinks Winning Tech Shot Creamer, Farrell, And Samuels Star

A basket thrown by Coach "Horse Power" McCarthy provided the winning margin in the annual beer party and basketball game played between the Harvardlillies and the Tech party-boys.

It was a rough and tumble battle. "Coco Cola" Schneider drew first blood for the Beaver quint when his pass to "Cigarette Butt" (Butt for short) Herzog bounced off "Little Boy" Wilson's head into the basket.

Harvard Stunned

Harvard players, stunned by the quick Tech attack, began to cry, making it necessary for towels to be dragged along the floor before play could be resumed.

To get back their spirit they called time out for tea. When the referee found they were telling dirty jokes that he had already heard in their huddle, he called a technical foul.

Samuels Is After The Blonde

An exchange of nasty words reflected through the hangar as "Two Beer", alias "Play Boy". Samuels missed the foul but caught a blonde's eye in the bleachers. The game was delayed as both teams looked for Samuels. Finally "Cap" Creamer found him and then both teams looked for Samuels and Creamer. When the teams found them, the crowd looked for both teams. The Blonde was finally evicted and play started again. The battle was see and saw from then on. Half ended with the teams tie 98-98.

The Blonde's Back

The second half found the blonde back in the bleachers and both teams in reserved seats. Finally the referee sat in the bleachers with the blonde's boy friend and the blonde took the referee's position.

No sooner had the game begun than the crowd had to rush on the floor to release the blonde from the ten man clinch. After the hospital attendants picked up the parts of "Play Boy", who was on the bottom of the pile, play was resumed.

Saves Game

Coach Horse Power McCarthy, who sank the winning shot for Technologists last night.

P. T. Tears Hair

All this time, the clock watch was still going and there was only two seconds to play. This had P. T. McCarthy tearing his hair, but finally a magnificent idea hit the nucleus of his cerebellum.

Quickly he rushed "Bashful Willie" Farrell into the game. Willie was proud of himself that his chest expanded fifty times his usual size, thus shading out the view of the officials.

McCarthy chuckled to himself as his play worked to perfection. He quickly snuck up and put in the winning basket for his dear old school of the cardinal and grey.

INSTITUTE MATA HARI BARES ESPIONAGE PLOT

A plot to sell the R.O.T.C. Springfield rifles to Iceland was uncovered yesterday when Hepzibah Lamour, promising young Institute secretary (she promised everybody), confessed under pressure (dF/dA, by definition) her part in a nation-wide plan to sell U. S. military secrets to oppressed minorities in Iceland, the Canary Islands, Pango Pango, Tahiti, and Jersey City.

Operating from headquarters in Professor Women's office, Room 5-116, Mademoiselle Lamour was apprehended by freshman company Z as she was establishing agents from the Old Howard, long recognized as a hotbed of espionage activities, in the G88 laboratories.

She's A Mellow Chick

A dreamy young thing, usually dressed in chic burlap, with stringy hair and a glass eye (the latter a convenient place for transporting code messages), Hepzibah has long been employed in under cover activities in the Technology dormitories and fraternities.

In frank terms she revealed how her betrayal resulted from her love for a prominent figure in the rubber industry who holds an important position in the T. M. laboratory of the Fluid Mechanics course at the University of Bellevue, and who is also a reserve officer.

Garter Slips And —

Last night, while disclosing to him the energy relations of laminar flow (paragraph 144 of "Introduction to Mechanics and Feet", by N. H. Flunk, $3.50, mailed in a plain cover), she inadvertently let slip her garter, exposing all her secrets.

Properly shocked by this revelation, the rubber magnet immediately notified Major Redwing Gephousalem, who in turn sent out an emergency call to all sober freshmen.

U.S. R.O.T.C. to the Rescue!!

The members of Co. Z, in the midst of a lecture on Cambridge tap water, heroically rose to the occasion, gave a heidy teidy, and ran like hell to consult Mrs. Thomas. Sent by her to Professor Women's office, they burst in just in time to find the rubber magnet stretched on the floor by sidethrust from Hepzibah's equatorial surface.

Her duties finished, the exotic Lamour was attempting a getaway through the fire escape when the courageous cadets cannily captured her with incriminating documents. Among the latter were two copies of VooDoo, concealed in a false tooth, a set of statistics, a copy of Breezy Stories, and the Walker Thursday night menu.

Lamour Betrayed

After grilling (in butter), her confession as related by the F.B.I. revealed the scope of her work. Safely camouflaged by her position as a secretary, directed subversive activities throughout the country.

Specifically, according to the authorities, Miss Lamour was responsible for those UnAmerican Activities prohibited at last year's Junior Prom at the Vassar Street Ballroom. As this news was teletyped, Lamour, Harvard, Cornell, Brown, South Boston State Normal school began investigations of their statistics.

Other Colleges Push Probes

These and similar probes in other colleges definitely established Lamour as the head of an international spy ring, government agents said last night.

Mademoiselle Lamour in an extensive interview with The Tech reported

Two suspects suspected of participating in suspicious activities, Ard-Fair and Knott Phaire, were apprehended by police last night. Suspected of being brothers, or at least of the same parents, the men being held under the O'Toole Act, charge of participating in suspicious activities.

Witnesses last night identified the men as the two men who shot and killed the T.C.A. bartender for giving them a glass of beer with typical words: "Are you-all twenty

After shooting the bartender, the man approached a patron of the bar, and hit him around the floor a bit, and hit him in itsy bitsy pieces, and hit him at women passing by in front of the bar. Are Hardened Criminals

Police records show an appalling record of crime following the birth of the two men. In 1776, Fair's records show that he attempted to buy off the Continental Armies for one "Lord" Wallis, Old Drury, '77, by offering each of the Union soldiers one mass of Ballantines (by permission of the copyright owners), (1) of Ale (ditto), and telling the soldiers to hop to it. They brought him a Tory wench as a souvenir. Wench was, even at this early date, listed as contraband by the government's report. (which shows a value of $46,000 annually).

Faire was sent to prison and records show that he is still there. Police are unable to account for his presence at T.C.A. Bar in the basement of

Phaire Convicted

Phaire was convicted of carrying on with a Confederate Miss during the late war of the Rebellion, and was actually caught telling a union intelligence officer that there ought to be some "hot jobs," below the Mason-Dixon line.

Convicted of an act unfriendly to the state, Phaire was sent to prison in June, 1863, and has not been released. Police are puzzled by his

Letter to the Editor

Fallen Arch, Wis.

Editor, The Tech:

May I call your attention to a statement appearing in your paper some time ago which seems to me to be wholly inappropriate and disgraceful to Technology. I have written repeatedly to the Dean of the Institute but have received no answer.

An editorial entitled "Veritas" appeared in your paper which brands your publication as a paper of low moral tone exerting a detrimental influence upon Tech students. In this editorial the expression "Fides et Veritas" appeared, in bold print; the words spelled out with no attempt at disguise. I feel that when Faculty and students permit such disgusting language to be used in a publication bearing the name of the Institute, matters have come to a dreadful point.

Personally, I do not know what that indecent expression means. But that is beside the point. I know enough of the character of young America to suspect that such a disgusting phrase has some immoral connotation. I feel that something should be done to check this sort of thing.

The Man On The Seat Peeks

Question: Why do you like The Tech so much?

Place: Under a table at Jake Wirth's.

Elmer Frances DeTiere, Jr. My chapeau is off to The Tech because of its unflagging crusade for high moral conditions throughout our renowned community, the Institute. I also like the extremely cooperative attitude shown by that publication to the Technology Christian Association. The pictures of pretty girls are nice, too.

Charles Victoire Forbes DeMailly, Esq., M.P., A.S.U., W.C.T.U., and President of the Anti-Pornographic League. I just love the needlecraft column and the ducky white margins around it. Your recipes are too, too divine, especially your angel cake with raisins. I only hope you will continue on your righteous campaign to eliminate some of the filth that is going on in a certain Institute publication that comes out monthly.

William Fleming Wingard. The political columns in your illustrious newspaper intrigue me no end. It presents both sides of the story with which I agree. Its reporting of the Institute Committee's subversive activities deserves especial commendation and no one knows that better than I.

George Dadakais. My commendation goes to the brilliantly virile way in which The Tech presents all sides of a story from robbery to commerce. I am also very much in favor of the disdain with which that newspaper treats the inhalation of malteous brew, a substance with which I have no truck.

Tech Troops Enter Wellesley Amid Cheers

OMSK, April 28, 1939. (Special wire to The Tech).—Technology troops yesterday morning entered the outskirts of Wellesley in a drive to take over the government of Greater Wellesley, wrested from Technology by the Treaty of Toomey-Sullivan in 1938.

Company B. of the R.O.T.C. was given the honor of being the first of Special Technology troops to enter the forbidden area since Christmas Eve of 1492, when Conant, Prince of Harvard, established a protectorate over the unfortunate territory at that time.

Occupation Begun on Time

Leader Compton, following his policy of Imperial expansion, authorized the Army to march at 8:01 this morning. At 8:02, occupation of the territory was begun.

Little resistance was met, and a the troops marched through the main streets of Wellesley, cheering crowds gathered to welcome the conquering heroes.

Establishing his headquarters in Casanova Hall, Field Marshal T. P. Pire called Leader Compton by special portable radio and informed him that occupation of the territory was complete, and rehabilitation of the devastated areas would be begun immediately following a purge of anti-Tech elements.

Four suspected were rounded up at press time, and M.I.T. authorities expected additional arrests hourly. The culprits have been placed in protective custody pending trial and execution tomorrow morning.

Leader Compton authorized troop movements after it became apparent that Harvard, last of the "weakling" democracies, would refuse a peaceful settlement of the issues involved. Leader Compton further declared that

APOLOGIES TO THE JABBERWOCK

In Xandu the wily Tech,
Did marmbul navvy hold;
And all along the weary trek
He'd shoklaim in accents bold.

For forning was his fav'rite sport,
And he'd adeline and cobam too;
So nichy fritchy spark and snort
And never even exmonish boo!

"Go to, go to, you frewey snek,"
The blushing maid replied,
"You cannot at once both fram and neck!"
Was all that Fanny mied.

A Young Man's Fancy

I often spend my hours alone
For want of pleasant company.

Then I thoughtfully bemoan
Nature's foul conspiracy;

Does a scarcity exist
That I can't find a maiden fair?

By pretty girl have ne'er been kissed
Though my lips have ever borne the prayer?

Are starlit nights for lonely walking
Along Spring's fragrant, verdant paths?

Must I of evenings lean to gawking at others
While a cruel moon laughs?

Must girls for whom I just don't care
Be drawn to my manly bosom?

Are those I like just unaware
That we should form a twosome?

Desperate, must I bribe fate
If I wish just one good date?

One thing's sure; I'll never find
The girl of my dreams if the date is blind.

The Tech Staff Fleeing ~

In Memoriam

ROBERT C. CASSELMAN, '39

The Tech regrets to announce the untimely demise of Robert Crozer Casselman, '39, ex-General Manager of VooDoo and late chairman of the Senior Week Committee, who passed away on or about January 1, 1939. In line with its policy of bringing news to its subscribers promptly, The Tech would have reported this sad fact sooner if anyone had noticed Casselman's absence before yesterday when the last installment on his car came due.

an announcement of the issues involved would be made after consultation with members of The Leader's cabinet.

First act of the army was to appropriate approximately $400,000,000,000, in gold, and transport it in a special plane to the Imperial Treasury, supplementing the $2.98 on deposit in the Bursar's Office, to be made available to destitute party members after fiscal expenses are deducted.

The KINGDOM OF SWING

A rebirth of American Music by

BENNY GOODMAN

American music is the theme of this book. American music as Benny Goodman, extraordinary phenomenon of the new Swing era has known and played it, in terms of the men he has worked with. To this story Mr. Irving Kolodin, distinguished critic, has contributed an astute analysis and description of the musical techniques and the nature of the music known as Swing—a vital throbbing record of true American art.—Price, $2.00.

Ordnance Dept.
Given Spears

A new development in army ordnance, destined to revise modern warfare and to bankrupt Krupp, Skoda, Vickers, Winchester, and the Springfield Arsenal, was displayed by representatives of the Ordnance Department at its annual clambake last night. The Army is to turn from the conventional rifle and machine gun to the more effective weapon which is illustrated above—the spear.

When asked to explain the change,
the Colonel said, "The spear is the logical weapon with which to arm all Americans. It appeals to them naturally, for it is one of those things which can be pitched at any time.
Woo! Woo!"

T. M. Lab To Test Spear

Specimens have been sent to the
T. M. lab for tests on compression, tension, ductility, and modulus of rupture. Course XIX is trying to improve the weapon by adding a duralumin handle, while Course XVIII has been making a table of the trajectories required for various sorts of penetrations.

The only objections raised to the adoption of the new weapon were voiced by the Economics department which stated that, assuming ideal conditions, it forecast a grave depression in the armaments industry with possible international results.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Love In Bloom

Homer Stoutrye had just walked through his door and now he was rubbing a bump on his head. The door had been closed! Slowly he gathered himself together, picking his right kneecap from under the piano.

After he had replaced his transmission, checked his oil and gas, and cleaned his windshield, he went into the bathroom to think. It was in the solitude and heavy atmosphere of this sanctum sanctorum, that Homer could best cogitate. This he proceeded to do. After he was through cogitating, he got up, went into the living room, and sat down on the piano bench. Ceaselessly that same tune beat through his brain. Unendingly it pounded at his temples, until his very spectacles began to shake. Swinging about, he poured his entire soul out on the piano. Then he got a dust rag and cleaned it off.

"My God," he exclaimed, as he discovered the piano was gone, "the installment man's been here."

Hurriedly he got up, and began pacing the room. "Twenty by ten," he said to himself, "My wouldn't it look ducky with a red rug." He was now wrapped up in his new thoughts. Just then the doorbell rang. He unwrapped his thoughts and opened the door. There stood the apple of his eye, the cherry in his lime rickey, his own Amnesia.

"Amnesia, my love," he called her Amnesia for short (sometimes he even called her Amnesia when he was in a hurry). "Amnesia, come in." The beautiful girl came in, carefully lifting her 250 pounds over the threshold. "Please sit down. Take the chair over the heavy floor beam, darling, the neighbors have been complaining about falling plaster lately."

"Thank you, Homey," the girl said and deposited herself on a reinforced concrete seat. "Homey, I have something to tell you, something that has been worrying me for days. I can't eat, I can't sleep, I'm even losing weight."

Homer leaned forward in expectation of some glad news. He leaned so far forward that he fell down. Amnesia continued.

"I've been wanting to tell you this for days. Now I have the courage to tell you. I don't love you."

Homer's face fell. He picked it up and said nothing. Amnesia got up and left. There had been nothing more to say.

Stoutrye had reached a crisis. There was nothing more to do. He opened a fire door and stepped out into the street ten stories below.

INSTITUTE GOES BROKE, AS EC DEPT. SNICKERS

With his assumption of complete dictatorial powers, Leader Compton's first official act was to announce, at a special meeting last night of the now impotent Corporation, that all Institute courses, except the Economics department, were "completely bankrupt, Communist-ridden, and here-with insolvent."

He stated furthermore that the entire Institute had been leased to the Associated Tutors as a result of outside pressure. Feldherr Dingee is expected to march on the Coop and occupy Building 5 by Saturday.

Many new changes are expected to result from the revelation of the Institute's financial status. The Economics department, victorious in with-standing bankruptcy, is preparing a set of demands which are to be presented to The Leader within 48 hours. The Institute Buildings, now that Tech is on the rocks, are no longer sinking at the rate of 88 Angstroms per year. Course XX has given up trying.

Marginal utility, the law of supply and demand, liquidated stock, consumer cooperatives, the law of diminishing returns, assumption of ideal conditions, and Walker meals have all been blamed for the collapse. Wiener won't talk. Tommy Dorsey paid $5.00 to show.

New Technique Goes On Sale Saturday

With the fifty-fourth annual record of strife at Technology completed, Technique's staff will soon be released from its ten months of hard labor according to Frederick B. Grant, '39, editor of the record.

At the same time 1939 Technique itself will be turned loose on the Institute, the first attack being scheduled for the Main Lobby at 11 o'clock this morning. Subsequent attacks will originate at the Lobby on Monday.

EAT PEANUTS WITH YOUR PROF."—CARNIVAL SLOGAN

"Eat peanuts with your professors" is the new slogan of the 5:15 Carnival which is to take place tomorrow morning in Walker Memorial from 10 to 12.

The raw materials of peanut butter will be supplied to all guests so that they may address their teachers with proper morning-after-the-night-before taste in their mouths. Anything to render the Carnival more home-like.

Machines Highlight Evening

Highlight of the event is to be the Rubie Goldberg machines, now being secretly developed by various groups throughout the school. These machines of a Tech man's night-life are to be placed around the Main Hall.

The Carnival is also going to the Main Hall. For one is to be given to some person as a door prize. The prize will be a deluxe model fully equipped with a leash. Albert E.

(Goldfish Gulper) Hayes has been designated to walk behind the duck with a mop.

High-Stake Gambling Featured

Moreover, the fair halls of Walker are to be desecrated with gaming machines. Playing fees may run as high as five cents. There are also to be parimutuel horseraces without the horses, according to the public relations chairman of the 5:15 Club.

Some time during the night, 700 balloons will be released in the Main Hall. The balloons are being inflated by the well trained lungs of William C. Jackson, official Institute greeter, and by Coach Oscar Hedlund.

Chaperones Announced

Chaperones are to be Professor and Mrs. Norbert Wiener, Professor and Mrs. Leicester F. Hamilton, Professor and Mrs. Raymond D. Douglass, Professor and Mrs. George Owen, and three amnesia victims.

Frederick G. "Bristles" Fassett, Jr., wanted dead or alive. $10,000 reward. Last seen posing for a toothbrush ad. "Bristles" was recently fired from the editorial staff of Street & Smith's "Breezy Stories" for yellow journalistic tendencies.

$25,000 Worth Of Invisible Glass Is Lost

$50,000 worth of invisible glass was lost last night, it was revealed by the department of Optical Delusions.

A Gooch crucible full of the valuable material slipped out of the hot box and down through a crack in the wall as the research men were attempting to bring it into shape for a door for the Dean's office, Room 3-108.

$70,000 Worth Found

$70,000 worth of the glass was reported to have been found under his secretary's desk by Professor Aristides V. Goon as he bumped into it while looking for a collar button. The remainder is still missing.

A twenty man searching corps was organized as soon as the Gooch slipped down the crack. Each man was outfitted with probing equipment consisting of a hammer and a steel ballbearing.

Searching is being done by the hit or miss process. It consists of swinging at nothing, and if something is hit that is the invisible glass because nothing would be there if it wasn't.

Photographic Nuisance

The final volume is the result of this of photo-flashing and general nagging by the yearbook staff. Poor, unsuspecting Tech men were lured out-of-the-way rooms and held there until they submitted to being photoed and again without let-up. Hot and ungodly hours meant nothing to Grant's men. They had a record to make—and now they've made it. And now Technology can read it. For the coming attacks, not a single man is expected to have escaped the final step. How far Technique has come from its 1885 cradle in The news room!
